DEVELOPMENTS ON NORTH FRONT

ARCHANGEL SECTOR NEARING CRISIS; AID SENT THREATENED TROOPS.

By the Associated Press

LONDON, April 5.—Important developments on the Murmansk front in Northern Russia may be expected in a few days, owing to the threatened defection of Finnish troops, according to the Mail. It is said it was to meet this danger that American detachments were sent on two American cruisers which will arrive at Murmansk early next week. President Wilson is reported to have ordered the sailors to land with the troops if necessary.

Americans Will Withdraw.
WASHINGTON, April 5.—Declaring the Archangel situation is militarily well in hand, General March today announced that the war department's plan was to have the American forces out of that part of Russia by the end of June.

REPORTED TREATY ALMOST COMPLETED

PARIS, April 5.—The opinion was expressed last night by a responsible British authority that the peace treaty will be ready for signatures by Wednesday next.

LONDON, April 5.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Telegraph wires that he is able to state on the highest authority that by Sunday a complete agreement will have been reached by the council of four.

GERMANS WOULD HAVE SOUGHT BIG INDEMNITY

BERNE, April 5.—Matthias Erzberger, chairman of the German armistice commission and a member of the German government, was accused of being the author of a document written in 1914, showing that Germany's peace terms, if she won, would include large annexations and indemnities, Herr Landauer, a representative of the Munich soldiers and workmen's council, declared in a speech at Augsburg, Bavaria, according to a dispatch to the Frankfurter Zeitung. Landauer, who was speaking at a meeting in memory of Kurt Eisner, the late Bavarian premier, said he had a copy of the document.

Landauer at first refused to give the name of the author, except that he was still a member of the government. Finally, however, he said that the person to whom he alluded was Herr Erzberger.

Among the peace terms mentioned in the document, Landauer said, were:

Annexation of Belgium, French Normandy and several towns on the southeastern coast of England.

Annexation of the territories on the eastern frontier of Germany which have since become separate states.

Establishment of a large German colonial empire.

Payment of a war indemnity calculated to cover Germany's expenses during the first ten months of the war as well as the entire German debt before the war.

Herr Landauer asserted that these terms were approved in principle by General von Falkenhayn, General Moltke and Admiral von Tirpitz.

W. B. JONES CORRECTS STATEMENT BY OKLAHOMAN

The Oklahoman states that W. B. Jones was at Oklahoma City Friday in the interest of moving the girls' industrial school for Oklahoma City to Roff. Mr. Jones requests the News to make the following correction of the Oklahoman story:

"I never had in mind and knew nothing about the proposition of Roff wanting the Industrial school for girls. I told Gov. Robertson and others that Roff would like to have one of the tubercular sanatoriums, and nothing regarding the industrial school for girls was ever mentioned to me or by me."

Intentions Count for Little.

To be always intending to live a new life, but never to find time to set about it, is as if a man should put off eating and drinking and sleeping from one day and night to another, till he is starved and destroyed.—Tillotson.

No Friends Like Old Friends.

Esteem of great powers, or available qualities newly discovered, may embroil a day or week, but a friendship of twenty years is interwoven with the texture of life. A friend may be found and lost, but an old friend can never be found, and nature has provided that he cannot easily be lost.—Samuel Johnson.

Delphian Club.

The Delphian Club will meet at 3:00 o'clock in the First Methodist Church parlor Tuesday afternoon. All who are members of this club and expect to study the course as outlined are urged to be present at this meeting as it is important that all get the very first lesson in the course. — Mrs. Wells, President.

Lee McKinney arrived this morning with his discharge from Camp Pike, seemingly none the worse off for having served six months in overseas duty since he has not lost his happy smile and the twinkle in his eye.

TROTSKY ORDERS NAVAL BATTLE

REPORTED TO HAVE ORDERED FLEET TO ATTACK ALLIED NAVY.

By the Associated Press

LONDON, April 5.—Leon Trotsky, bolshevik minister of war and marine, has ordered the Russian Baltic fleet to put to sea and attack the allied fleets, threatening to have all the crews shot if they disobey the order, says the Mail.

HAPSBURGS LOSE ALL HOLDINGS

AUSTRIAN ROYAL FAMILY EXILED AND PROPERTY IS CONFISCATED.

By the Associated Press

COPENHAGEN, April 5.—The German-Austrian national assembly has passed a bill, introduced March 27, banishing the members of the Hapsburg family and confiscating their property, according to Vienna advices. Other bills doing away with certain titles of nobility and abolishing capital punishment, except under martial law, also were passed.

SWITZERLAND SHORT OF FOOD AND COAL

By the Associated Press

BERNE, March 7. (By Mail)—War-time food restrictions still weigh heavily upon the Swiss and are expected to for several months.

The bread ration has been increased to nine ounces a day and is expected to remain at this allowance till after this year's harvests. The cheese ration is nine ounces a month. Butter is only obtainable in the remoter country districts. The sugar ration is eighteen ounces a month.

There is a great dearth of milk and, although the ration is nominally a pint per day, it is rarely possible to obtain more than half of a pint. Hapicoa, sago, macaroni, and many other similar articles of food are entirely lacking. Meat, though unrationed, is very poor in quality and cannot be obtained for less than $1.50 a pound.

The restriction which most seriously affects the economic life of the country and also the comfort of the inhabitants is the reduced service of trains due to the coal famine. All express trains have been suspended and the speed of the few slow trains that run averages about fifteen miles an hour. Connections between trains on different lines are made as difficult as possible to discourage travelling. Fares have been virtually doubled. The trains are packed, many long-distance travellers are obliged to stand in the corridors all the way on the jolting is violent owing to attachment to passenger trains of freight cars which are shunted at the stations en route.

The importation of coal into Switzerland falls short of the necessary minimum of 170,000 tons a month and this deficiency must be made good before travelling can become normal again. The locomotives of the Swiss State Railways are burning wood instead of coal.

The war restriction on the use of gasoline is about to be removed. Its shortage since 1917 had been so great that the entire supply had to be reserved for the use of the army and for physicians in emergency cases. The automobile had almost disappeared from Swiss roads. Now a large purchase of gasoline from Bohemia will permit unlimited sale.

ALLIED FORCES STILL STRONG

ONLY SMALL FRACTION OF GERMAN ARMIES STILL UNDER ARMS.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Figures on the latest status of military forces in Europe, General March announced today, show that the armies of the Central powers as now organized constitute about 15 percent of their strength when the armistice was signed, while the allied forces still organized comprise 75 percent of this total strength on November 11. Official dispatches show the aggregate allied strength now is 1,125,000 men.

The demobilization of the American army, including incomplete reports to April 5 show a total of 1,624,171 discharged, of whom over 91,000 were officers. Total troops ordered for demobilization are 1,836,500. The strength of the American army April 5 was estimated at 2,055,718, representing the demobilization of 44 percent of the enlisted and 48 percent of the commissioned personnel.

NURSING COURSE BEGINS MONDAY

LADIES URGED TO REGISTER EARLY AT RED CROSS HEADQUARTERS.

All ladies who desire to register for the course in home nursing given by the Red Cross chapter of Pontotoc county, are requested to be at Red Cross headquarters early Monday morning as the registration will be disposed of as quickly as possible and class work begun.

The course will consist of fifteen lessons and the working hours will be from 9 to 11 a. m., 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. No class fee is charged.

This course, as Miss Anderson, the nurse in charge of the work, does not pretend to be such a course as a trained nurse would receive, but is for the purpose of giving instructions on the home care of the sick which is so badly needed at times. Home hygiene, food preparation, care of the beds, as well as how to take measures to prevent illness in the family.

Miss Anderson is pre-eminently qualified for this work. She graduated eighteen years ago and has been nursing most of the time since besides taking special work. For more than a year she was in war service, part of the time at Columbia war hospital, U. S. General No. 1, in New York and part of the time in England. The ship on which she sailed carried 6,000 troops and when it landed many were down with influenza. She helped nurse these cases and was then assigned to a hospital near Liverpool where soldiers brought from France were placed.

This course is the beginning of a work in public nursing that the Pontotoc County Chapter of the Red Cross expects to carry on in peacetime. Another epidemic of influenza may sweep the country this fall and it is of prime importance that the people be prepared to meet it. A few months hence, as soon as possible, a permanent nurse will be employed who will travel over the county giving courses where the people are interested and doing everything possible to diminish human suffering and reduce the death loss. In her stay here Miss Anderson expects to visit other places and explain the nature of the work.

The Red Cross did wonderful work during the war and in caring for the influenza patients at the emergency hospital when many were in need of help and this work in peacetime is expected to be of prime importance in spreading knowledge of methods of home nursing that all may employ in cases of illness of members of their families.

LUCY GATES CHARMS LARGE AUDIENCE

Those who seized the opportunity of hearing Lucy Gates sing last evening were in no way disappointed. Her pleasing personality and simple manner won for her a responsive audience. She has a remarkable range of voice, her highest tones were reached with surprising ease and spontaneity, while her lowest tones were characterized with clearness and accuracy. The music lovers of the audience were more than delighted with her rendition of the Bell Song from "Lakme" in which such wonderful technique was manifested. Her voice is beautiful in quality and has a lyric power that is most appealingly sympathetic. Those who heard the concert have every reason to congratulate themselves and feel satisfied that they have heard this unusual artist of coloratura.

That the singer is thoroughly American was evinced by her keen sense of humor displayed when "Old Tige" chimed in on the chorus.

TEACHERS SHOW UP WELL IN FIRST GAME

Professor Newcomb's young baseball aspirants showed up in pretty good form in their first attempt Friday afternoon when they walked over the Francis High School team, 18 to 3. Although the teachers are young, they display a good knowledge of baseball and handle the ball with comparative ease. Ingram is developing into a meander of no mean proportions.

The Francis boys play good baseball, but they were not in the running with the teachers.

A returned soldier was heard to remark that not getting to cross the ocean to take a hand in the war now have a fine chance, since Uncle Sam is calling for 50,000 volunteers to go over and take the places of boys who went to come home.

Now we hear of demands being made for a six-hour day. Why not go a step farther and abolish work altogether? Congress or the legislature should by all means set about constructing honey ponds and set a liberal supply of pancake trees about the edges so that at least seven of the present eight hours constituting a day's work can be lopped off.

Hundreds of citizens of Ada, always ready to do their bit in making Ada a better place in which to live, are cleaning up their premises and alleys without waiting for the formal opening of the campaign. A great improvement can already be noted in many localities and when the final round is made the sanitary conditions will be many times better and the menace of an epidemic of fever or other disease will be greatly diminished. This is the occasion when an ounce of prevention is worth several pounds of cure.

That Ada people appreciate first class entertainments was again proved Thursday evening by the large audience that greeted Lucy Gates. As this singer is paid $600 per night few places the size of Ada have the nerve to undertake to secure her, but Ada people were there in numbers that proved their interest and displayed keen enthusiasm. Mr. Fentem deserves much credit for his work in this line the past two years, bringing several artists of first rank to Ada. The support given him has been most gratifying.

CHAPTER III.

Mr. Rushcroft Dissolves, Mr. Jones Intervenes, and Two Men Ride Away.

Mr. Rushcroft explained that he had had his supper. In fact, he went on to confess, he had been compelled, like the dog, to "speak" for it. What could be more disgusting, more degrading, he mourned, than the spectacle of a man who had appeared in all of the principal theaters of the land as star and leading support to stars, settling for his supper by telling stories and reciting poetry in the taproom of a tavern?

"Still," he consented, when Mr. Barnes insisted that it would be a kindness to him, "since you put it that way, I dare say I could do with a little snack, as you so aptly put it. Just a bite or two. What have you ready, Miss Tilly?"

Miss Tilly was a buxom female of forty or thereabouts, with spectacles. She was one of a pair of sedentary waitresses who had been so long in the employ of Mr. Jones that he hated the sight of them.

Mr. Rushcroft's conception of a bite or two may have staggered Barnes but it did not bewilder Miss Tilly. He had four eggs with his ham, and other things in proportion. He talked a great deal, proving in that way that it was a supper well worth speaking for. Among other things he dilated at great length upon his reasons for not being a member of the Players or the Lambs in New York city. It seems that he had promised his dear, devoted wife that he would never join a club of any description. Dear old girl, he would as soon have cut off his right hand as to break any promise made to her. He brushed something away from his eyes, and his chin, contracting, trembled slightly. "What is it, Mr. Bacon? Any word from New York?"

Mr. Bacon hovered near, perhaps hungrily. "Our genial host has instructed me to say to his latest guest that the rates are two dollars a day, in advance, all dining-room checks payable on presentation," said Mr. Bacon, apologetically.

Rushcroft exploded. "O scurvy insult," he boomed. "Confound his—"

The new guest was amiable. He interrupted the outraged star. "Tell Mr. Jones that I shall settle promptly," he said with a smile.

"It has just entered his bean that you may be an actor, Mr. Barnes," said Bacon.

Miss Tilly, overhearing, drew a step or two nearer. A sudden interest in Mr. Barnes developed. She had not noticed before that he was an uncommonly good-looking fellow. She always had said that she adored strong, "athletic" faces.

Later on she felt inspired to jot down, for use no doubt in some future literary production, a concise, though general, description of the magnificent Mr. Barnes. She utilized the back of the bill of fare and she wrote with the feverish ardor of one who dreads the loss of a first impression. I here append her visual estimate of the hero of this story:

"He was a tall, shapely specimen of mankind," wrote Miss Tilly. "Broad-shouldered. Smooth-shaved face. Penetrating gray eyes. Short, curly hair about the color of mine. Strong hands of good shape. Face tanned considerably. Heavy dark eyebrows. Good teeth, very white. Square chin. Lovely smile that seemed to light up the room for everybody within hearing. Nose ideal. Mouth same. Voice aristocratic and reverberating with education. Age about thirty or thirty-one. Rich as Croesus. Well-turned legs. Would make a good nobleman."

All this would appear to be reasonably definite were it not for the note regarding the color of his hair. It leaves to me the simple task of completing the very admirable description of Mr. Barnes by announcing that Miss Tilly's hair was an extremely dark brown.

Also it is advisable to append the following biographical information: Thomas Kingsbury Barnes, engineer, born in Montclair, N. J., September 26, 1885. Cornell and Beaux Arts, Paris. Son of the late Stephen S. Barnes, engineer, and Edith (Valentine) Barnes. Office, Metropolitan building, New York city. Residence, Amsterdam mansion, Clubs: (Lack of space prevents listing them here). Recreations, golf, tennis and horse-back riding. Fellow of the Royal Geographical society. Member of the Loyall Legion and the Sons of the American Revolution.

Added to this, the mere announcement that he was in a position to indulge a fancy for long and perhaps aimless walking tours through more or less out-of-the-way sections of his own country, to say nothing of excursions in Europe.

He was rich. Perhaps not as rich as measured in these Midas-like days, but rich beyond the demands of avarice. His legacy had been an ample one. The fact that he worked hard at his profession from one year's end to the other—not excluding the six devoted to mentally productive jaunts—is proof sufficient that he was not content to subsist on the fruits of another man's enterprise. He was a worker.

The first fortnight of a proposed six weeks' jaunt through upper New England terminated when he laid aside his heavy pack in the little bedroom at Hart's Tavern. Cocker would find him ready and eager to begin his third week. At least so he thought. But, truth is, he had come to his journey's end; he was not to sling his pack for many a day to come.

After setting the mind of the landlord at rest Barnes declined Mr. Rushcroft's invitation to "quaff" a cordial with him in the taproom, explaining that he was exceedingly tired and intended to retire early.

Instead of going up to his room immediately, however, he decided to have a look at the weather. His uneasiness concerning the young woman of the crossroads increased as he peered at the wall of blackness looming up beyond the circle of light. She was somewhere outside that sinister black wall and in the smothering grasp of those invisible hills, but was she living or dead? Had she reached her journey's end safely? He tried to extract comfort from the confidence she had expressed in the ability and integrity of the old man who drove with far greater recklessness than one would have looked for in a wild and irresponsible youngster.

He recalled with a thrill the imperious manner in which she gave directions to the man, and his surprising severity. It suddenly occurred to him that she was no ordinary person; he was rather amazed that he had not thought of it before.

Moreover, now that he thought of it, there was, even in the agreeable rejoinders she had made to his offerings, the faint suggestion of an accent that should have struck him at the time but did not for the obvious reason that he was then not at all interested in her. Her English was so perfect that he had failed to detect the almost imperceptible foreign flavor that now took definite form in his reflections.

He tried to place this accent. Was it French or Italian or Spanish? Certainly it was not German.

He took a few turns up and down the long porch, stopping finally at the upper end. The clear, inspiring clang of a hammer on an anvil fell suddenly upon his ears. He looked at his watch. The hour was nine, certainly an unusual time for men to be at work in a forge. He remembered two men in the taproom who were bare-armed and wore the shapeless leather aprons of the smithy.

He had been standing there not more than half a minute peering in the direction from whence came the rhythmic bang of the anvil—at no great distance, he was convinced—when some one spoke suddenly at his elbow. He whirled and found himself facing the gaunt landlord.

"Good Lord! You startled me," he exclaimed. His gaze traveled past the tall figure of Putnam Jones and rested on that of a second man, who leaned, with legs crossed and arms folded, against the porch post directly in front of the entrance to the house, his features almost wholly concealed by the broad-brimmed slouch hat that came far down over his eyes. He, too, it seemed to Barnes, had sprung from nowhere.

"Fierce night," said Putnam Jones,

removing the cornucop pipe from his lips. Then, as an afterthought,

"Where'd you walk from today?"

"I stent in a farmhouse last night, about fifteen miles south of this place, I should say."

"That'd be a little ways out of East Cobb," speculated Mr. Jones.

"Five or six miles."

"Goin' over into Canada?"

"No. I shall turn west, I think, and strike for the Lake Champlain country."

"I suppose you've traveled right smart in Europe?"

"Quite a bit, Mr. Jones."

"Any particular part?"

"No," said Barnes, suddenly divining that he was being "pumped." "One end to the other, you might say."

"What about them countries down around Bulgaria and Rumania? I've been considerable interested in what's going to become of them if Germany gets licked. What do they get out of it, either way?"

Barnes spent the next ten minutes expatiating upon the future of the Balkan states. Jones had little to say. He was interested, and drank in all the information that Barnes had to impart. He puffed at his pipe, nodded his head from time to time, and occasionally put a leading question. And quite as abruptly as he introduced the topic he changed it.

"Not many automobiles up here this time of the year," he said. "I was a little surprised when you said a fellow had given you a lift. Where from?"

"The crossroads a mile down. He came from the direction of Frog's Corner and was on his way to meet someone at Spanish Falls. It appears that there was a misunderstanding. The driver didn't meet the train, so the person he was going after walked all the way to the forks. We happened upon each other there, Mr. Jones, and we studied the signpost together. She was bound for a place called Green Fancy."

"Did you say she?"

"Yes. I was proposing to help her out of her predicament when the belated motor came racing down the slope."

"What for sort of looking lady was she?"

"She wore a veil," said Barnes succinctly.

"Young?"

"I had that impression. By the way, Mr. Jones, what and where is Green Fancy?"

"Well," began the landlord, lowering his voice. "It's about two mile and a half from here, up the mountain. It's a house and people live in it, same as any other house. That's about all there is to say about it."

"Why is it called Green Fancy?"

"Because it's a green house," replied Jones succinctly. "Green as a gourd. A man named Curtis built it a couple o' years ago and he had a fool idea about paintin' it green. Might ha' been a little crazy, for all I know. Anyhow, after he got it finished he settled down to live in it, and from that day to this he's never been off the place."

"Isn't it possible that he isn't there at all?"

"He's there, all right. Every now and then he has visitors—just like this woman today—and sometimes they come down here for supper. They don't hesitate to speak of him, so he must be there. Miss Tilly has got the idea that he is a recluse, if you know what that is."

Further conversation was interrupted by the irregular clatter of horses' hoofs on the macadam. Off to the left a dull red glow of light spread across the roadway and a man's voice called out, "Whoa, dang ye!"

The door of the smithy had been thrown open and someone was leading forth freshly shod horses.

A moment later the horses—prancing, high-spirited animals—their bridle bits held by a strapping blacksmith, came into view. Barnes looked in the direction of the steps. The two men had disappeared. Instead of stopping directly in front of the steps the smith led his charges quite a distance beyond and into the darkness.

Putnam Jones abruptly changed his position. He insinuated his long body between Barnes and the doorway, at the same time rather loudly proclaiming that the rain appeared to be over.

"Yes, sir," he repeated. "She seems to have let up altogether. Ought to have a nice day tomorrow, Mr. Barnes—nice, cool day for walkin'."

Voices came up from the darkness. Jones had not been able to cover them with his own. Barnes caught two or three sharp commands, rising above the pawing of horses' hoofs, and then a great clatter as the mounted horsemen rode off in the direction of the crossroads.

Barnes waited until they were muffled by distance and then turned to Jones with the laconic remark:

"They seem to be foreigners, Mr. Jones."

Jones' manner became natural once more. He leaned against one of the posts and, striking a match on his leg, relighted his pipe.

"Kind o' curious about 'em?" he drawled.

"It never entered my mind until this instant to be curious," said Barnes.

"Well, it entered their minds about an hour ago to be curious about you," said the other.

GLADSTONE ON INDEPENDENCE OF LITTLE MONTENEGRO

By the Associated Press

WINCHESTER, Eng., April 5.—Viscount Herbert John Gladstone, formerly Secretary of State for Home Affairs and son of the great British premier, William E. Gladstone, has put himself on record as favoring the independence of Montenegro.

Mr. Gladstone has written a letter to Alexander Devine of Winchester in which he asserted:

"Montenegro has every claim, if not to absolute independence, at least to independence federated. I shall be extremely sorry if the old monarchy is repudiated by the people. Montenegro has been repeatedly classed by our government with Belgium and Serbia and the idea that she should be submerged in Serbia and lose her history, individuality is utterly repugnant to me."

A NERVOUS WRECK

From Three Years' Suffering. Says: Cardui Made Her Well.

Texas City, Tex.—In an interesting statement, Mrs. G. H. Schill, of this town, says: "For three years I suffered untold agony with my head. I was unable to do any of my work."

I just wanted to sleep all the time, for that was the only ease I could get, when I was asleep, I became a nervous wreck just from the awful suffering with my head."

I was so nervous that the least noise would make me jump out of my bed. I had no energy, and was unable to do anything. My son, a young boy, had to do all my household duties."

I was not able to do anything until I took Cardui. I took three bottles in all and it surely cured me of those awful headaches. That has been three years ago, and I know the cure is permanent for I have never had any headache since taking Cardui."

Nothing relieved me until I took Cardui. It did wonders for me."

Try Cardui for your troubles—made from medicinal ingredients recommended in medical books as being of benefit in female troubles, and 40 years of use has proven that the books are right. Begin taking Cardui today.

Viscount Grey Not Blind

By the Associated Press

LONDON, March 14.—The widely report that Viscount Grey, who was Foreign Minister in Mr. Asquith's cabinet, and whose speeches in the House of Commons in 1914 were a powerful influence in making up the mind of the British public for war, had become totally blind was exaggerated.

Writing to a friend who had sent his condolences, Lord Grey replied: "I lost the power of reading some months ago and dry-fly fishing became impossible last year as I could no longer see the rises. Salmon fishing, I hope, will still be possible. I am glad to see the great progress made at Paris with the project of a League of Nations."

Lord Grey made his last public appearance a few months ago when he delivered an address in London in support of the League of Nations.

DISTRICT TRACK MEET APRIL 18-19

ANNUAL EVENT AT NORMAL PROMISES TO ECLIPSE FORMER YEARS.

East Centralite

With the Seventh Annual Inter-scholastic Meet only two short weeks away, much activity has been seen of late on the athletic field, bleachers and track, same being put in the very best possible condition to provide for the keen competition that is sure to be seen on the East Central Campus on April 18 and 19. The track has been established again on the same course that was used in the first two meets 1913, 1914. It is a quarter mile track and every inch of it can easily be seen from the bleachers which are located on the north side of the field. The straight-away will extend from east to west on the north side of the field. The weight rings and pumping pits will be located just outside of the outfield in the northwest part of the oval and just in front of the bleachers. Forty new hurdles have been added to the track equipment.

From the number of inquiries that are being received daily by E. C. Wilson, manager of the meet, it is evident that the meet is to get back to a pre-war basis this year. The meet will come a week later than usual and this, it is believed, will afford a better opportunity for the sun to shine on the athletes.

Outside of the schools in Pontotoc county, little is known of the activities of any of the high schools in track. In Pontotoc county, however, there are two schools, Ada and Roff high schools, that are making a special effort to develop a track team this year. At Ada, Coach Schienberg, former Purdue star, is working hard to develop a number of cinder path artists and froggers. His men are pretty light except Kerr who is showing up well with the weights. At Roff, Coach Davis promises to continue the record in track that he started in basketball. His mainstays will be Washington, Tolliver and Dixon. Shawnee high school won the meet last year, but reports a much lighter team this year. Pauls Valley reports a strong team and will probably come over prepared to take away a good bunch of points.

The schools that will probably enter are Henryetta, Okmulgee, Wetumka, Okemah, Bearden, Calvin, Wewoka, Seminole, Shawnee, Tecumseh, Dale, Maud, Ada, Francis, Roff, Coalgate, Milburn, Holdenville, Tishomingo, Sulphur, Davis, Pauls Valley, Schol for the Deaf, and Purcell. School outside of the district are not permitted to enter. In former years as many as ten entries from schools outside have been returned and their entry forbidden, this being strictly a meet for the schools of this district.

As usual, the ball will start to roll on the afternoon of Friday the 18th. At 1 o'clock the preliminaries in baseball, basketball, tennis, reading and piano will start. At 8 p. m. the finals in reading and piano will be held. The contests in glee club and chorus will also be held at this time as will a contest between violin quartets. Saturday morning will see the finals in baseball, basketball and tennis and at 11 o'clock a coaches' meeting will be held in the library. The gun for the 100-yard dash will be heard at 1 p. m. on Saturday and the athletes will be off in what promises to be another real track and field meet.

It is necessary to announce in this connection that entertainment on Friday night will not be free as in the past. The cost of living has gone up so sharply that it is impossible to guarantee that people will open their homes for free entertainment as they have in the past. However, an effort is being made to secure homes at the rate of 75 cents per person for lodging and breakfast on that night.

General program of Inter-scholastic Meet, Friday, April 18:

Morning:
9:00—Tennis preliminaries begin.
Afternoon:
1:00—Tennis tournament continues and baseball and basketball preliminaries begin. Reading and piano preliminaries begin. See bulletin board for rooms.

CONSUMPTIVE REGAINS HEALTH AND STRENGTH

Mr. Walters Had Been Given Up as a Hopeless Case.

"I developed tuberculosis in my left lung in May, 1916. Several doctors told me I had a bad case and were unable to do me any good. I had a great deal in weight and was very weak, but since I commenced using Milks Emulsion I have regained my health and strength, and am now 9 pounds above my old normal weight. I have a good complexion and lots of strength and endurance. No one would ever think now that I had been given up as a hopeless case."—S. D. Walters, Center Point, Texas.

Hundreds of letters like this tell what Milks Emulsion has done in helping conquer consumption. Every sufferer is welcome to try it at the maker's risk. Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to run-down nervous people, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made and so palatable that it is equal to a spoon like ice cream. A truly wonderful medicine for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under the guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold and guaranteed by Gwin & Mays Drug Co. (Adv.)

PRES. GORDON AT OKMULGEE

ADDRESS BEFORE TEACHERS IS HIGHLY PRAISED BY PRESS OF OKMULGEE.

East Centralite

The following article appeared in the issue of the Okmulgee Daily Democrat of Sunday, March 30, 1919:

"President J. M. Gordon of East Central State Normal School, addressed the high school teachers and students Friday afternoon. President Gordon's address was an encouragement to the students to enter into their work with zeal, to do it honorably and well, and make full preparation for their life's work. Throughout his address the speaker used the comparison of life to a game; and emphasized three outstanding facts: to get into the game rather than be a mere on-looker, to play it hard and fair, and to become a well-rounded, many-sided character. The address was well received, indeed, many students expressing their views by saying that it was the best yet given from the high school platform during the term.

"Miss Geneva Ann Gordon, head of the high school English department, is a sister of President Gordon."

In another column, devoted to a discussion of the Okmulgee County Teachers' Association, which was held last Saturday, the Daily Democrat says:

"President Gordon, of the Ada State Normal, was present and filled his place on the program. He spoke for forty-five minutes upon 'World Citizenship.' President Gordon is a very forceful speaker and held his audience in close attention as he discussed the establishment of a league of nations. He said that the result of this league has made us not only citizens of Oklahoma and of the United States, but citizens of the world. He pointed out that there is a new program for the teacher, and new aims. Every individual must be reached—not only the pupils but the parents as well. He pointed out clearly that the fullest co-operation of the teachers is most necessary to reach this aim. He made this point more forceful by a comparison of the co-operation in the war. He stressed the fact that a spirit of unselfish loyalty must pervade the heart of everyone in order to accomplish this aim. He admitted that the program was large, but every power of the teachers is challenged to meet this program of world-wide citizenship."

NORMAL NOTES

Professor Robinson was one of the judges of the debate between the high schools of Shawnee and Marietta, held at Shawnee.

Miss Emma K. Keller of the Normal faculty is Oklahoma representative of the National Music Supervisors of America. Miss Keller attended the annual meeting held in St. Louis during the week ending March 29.

The call to the diamond is attracting many of our young men, and the outlook for an excellent baseball team is flattering. New equipment has been received and plans made for several games with other schools.

Preparations are already well under way for the summer term, which will open on May 30 and run for eight weeks and two days, with school six days each week. The correspondence which comes to the desk of President Gordon indicates the attendance will be large.

Miss Irma Spriggs of the English department is at her home in Springfield, Mo., on account of illness. Reports indicate that she is rapidly regaining her health. Her sister, Miss Ednah Spriggs, has charge of her work during her absence.

Mrs. Lola Harris Holmes, who has served as critic teacher for the present year, has severed her connection with the Normal and returned to her home in Durant. Mrs. Holmes carries with her the very best wishes of a large circle of friends who deeply regret that the illness of her mother causes her resignation.

A "system regulator" is a medicine that purifies and strengthens the liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels. Prickly Ash Bitters is one of the best of these. It drives out unhealthy conditions, promotes activity of body and brain, restores good appetite, sound sleep and cheerful spirits.

Pretty Thought.

The conception of the past and the future is well illustrated in the case of a little boy who said to his mother one day: "Mother, I know why it is that babies cannot speak until they are twelve months old or more. It is because they come straight from heaven, and if they were able to talk as soon as they were born they would tell the secrets, and so God doesn't let them speak until they have almost forgotten them."

at the church Monday at 3 o'clock for its regular monthly business meeting. Every member's presence is desired; visitors welcome. Come, come, and let's study our work and get all the information possible. The Bible tells us "My people perish for lack of knowledge." An "informed people is a willing people."

Vote on laity rights for women. The necessary three-fourths of the total vote required to carry the measure is 3,363—therefore, to date the action of the General Conference is ratified by the necessary three-fourths, with 704 to spare, without the vote of the foreign conferences, not yet reported.

Social Service.
"By love, serve ye one another. Surely no other office in the auxiliary has the opportunity and the duties imposed upon it of presenting the teachings of Christ than does that of social service. Humanity, Love and Service."

Mrs. W. T. Sims, Hillsboro, Texas, conference superintendent of central Texas, reports:

This is known as the Girl Age. What are we doing to help our girls? Providing suitable entertainment and social welfare in our own communities? Let us think. Co-operation with other organizations if necessary. Let us extend our long arm of service to our girls and help them meet this trying hour. The responsibility is ours; how shall we meet it? The prospects for social service work this year is the best we had. Please send to me a more complete report than is given on the report blank. I want the number of visits to sick and strangers; what your parsonage committee has done; number of floral offerings; report of work done in helping to improve social conditions; relief given to suffering and of the hand held out to unfortunate. Have heard from quite a number of superintendents who say "I want to work. I am going to work," with such a spirit as that I am expecting great things from this department in 1919.

The Staff:
"I have a staff to prop my way. As I plod onward through the day; And if by stony paths I fare I lean on it—the staff of prayer."

If so be I must toil and scale The heights that from above the vale It aids my lagging steps there; It buoy my heart—the Staff of Prayer."

It is my comrade and my friend, And so shall be until the end Of every mortal coil and care, Staff of my Soul—the Staff of Prayer."

HOW RHEUMATISM BEGINS

The excruciating agonies of rheumatism are usually the result of failure of the kidneys to expel poisons from the system. If the irritation of these uric acid crystals is allowed to continue, incurable bladder or kidney disease may result. Attend to it at once. Don't resort to temporary relief. The sick kidneys must be restored to health by the use of some sterling remedy which will prevent a return of the disease. Get some GOLD MEDAL Hamlin Oil Capsules immediately. They have brought back the joys of life to countless thousands of sufferers from rheumatism, lame back, lumbago, sciatica, gas, stones, gravel and other affections of the kidneys, liver, stomach, bladder and allied organs. They will attack the poisons at once, clear out the kidneys and urinary tract and the soothing healing oils and herbs will restore the inflamed tissues and organs to normal health. All others are imitations. Ask for GOLD MEDAL and be sure the name GOLD MEDAL is on the box. Three sizes, at all good druggists.

ner is to be given to the class that has the greatest increase of attendance in percent over the average attendance for March; and a teacher's Bible is to be given to the teacher of that class that has the largest attendance on Easter Sunday. This Bible school is a live wire and every one is welcome at its sessions. Last Sunday Mrs. M. L. Perkins gave an interesting report on the State Sunday school convention held at Oklahoma City last week. The reports will be continued next Sunday.

In the morning the minister will preach on the theme "Church Membership—What Does It Signify?" In the evening "The Golden Call" will be the subject. The morning church hour is 11 o'clock; the evening hour 7:45 for Christian Endeavor, and 8:30 for church. The minister will lead the Endeavor meeting.

Two boys made confession of their faith and were baptized last Sunday—Harrell Allen and Glen Walters.

A hearty welcome awaits all who come to the First Christian church on Broadway.—C. V. Dunn, Minister.
